Editor Note

I'm really excited about 2020!

When I first started RHK Productions in 2009, I had no idea we would accomplish so much. We've had 5 magazine titles under our umbrella of publications and have released over 300 issues. We have featured over 1,000 of the world's top models, thanks to our dedicated staff and world-class photographers. We are becoming more involved with musical artists and other entertainers and we have no plans on slowing down. I would like to personally thank everyone who has supported RHK ... it hasn't always been easy, but the journey has been a wonderful experience. I hope this year is one of our best yet!

As always, my goal is to make RHK Productions the BEST. If there is anything we can improve, please let us know by contacting us at submit@rhkempire.com.

Have a wonderful 2020!

Best regards,
Alexander Deal, CEO

7 Things You Must Do After Every Workout

You've put in the work at the gym, but you're not done. What you do post-workout is very important if you want to maximize your workout and minimize injuries.

Here are 7 essential things you must do:

1. Rehydrate

Simply put, drink water. Drink water. Drink water. This is probably the single most important thing you can do post-workout. It enables your body to recover and replenish.

2. Cool Down

It's very important to get your heart rate back to normal post-workout. Popular ways to do so include light jogging, walking, and yoga. Whatever you choose, take 10-15 minutes to cool down ... your heart needs it.

3. Stretch

Stretching can be included in your cool down routine, but there is some benefit in focusing on this as a separate essential item. After you cool down, a good stretch will help build flexibility and mobility by elongating your muscles. Be sure to target large muscle groups such as glutes, hamstrings, hips, and shoulders.

4. Protein Up

After you rehydrate and replenish, your body needs a little protein boost. Eating or drinking a protein (and fast-digesting carbohydrate) source 30-60 minutes after a workout helps your body absorb essential nutrients needed to jumpstart muscle repair. Popular choices are protein shakes, yogurt, cottage cheese, almonds, fish, and beef jerky.

5. Shower Time

After you've had a chance to cool off, stretch, and rehydrate, it's very important to "wash off the gym". The last thing you want to do is bring home any unwanted germs ... or smells. Shower. Lather up. Put on fresh clothes.

6. Track Progress

You'll never know how far you've progressed, unless you know where you started. From day one, Track your progress using a notepad. Or, if you prefer a more modern day approach, try using FitBit, smartwatches, or other apps that help track your fitness routine. Once you hit your initial goal, set more aggressive, but attainable, goals. The important thing is to track yourself so you have data to compare ... this will help you determine which areas you excel in, and which areas you need to target more aggressively.

7. Spoil Yourself

You'll never enjoy working out if you don't see results ... and if you don't reward yourself for your efforts. Don't be afraid to spoil yourself.

One of the best post-workout rewards is getting a massage. Other than the pure joy of having someone else massage your body, a good massage will remove lactic acid and improve muscle strength.

But don't stop there. De-stress. Relax. Watch a movie. Read a book. Don't overwork your body by adding stress to an already intense workout.

Amateur Models

I want to do something pretty,
but edgy, but sexy, but not skanky.
